Barbecues and campfires can cause wildfires.

Only light fires or BBQs where signs say you can

Ensure they are fully extinguished with water

Take litter away with you

A discarded cigarette can cause a fire. Enjoy your time outdoors safely by stubbing cigarettes out fully or douse with water to prevent a wildfire. #WildfireAware

Throwing litter including cigarettes from your car can start a wildfire it's also illegal and can land you with a fine. Drive your rubbish home with you #WildfireAware

Plan your visit to the countryside to help prevent wildfires. Check for bans or restrictions to the area. Breaking them is illegal and can land you with a hefty fine #WildfireAware

Small fires outdoors can easily become wildfires in dry conditions. They put firefighters at risk and take them away from community safety activities and dealing with other emergencies. Help us prevent wildfires by not lighting fires or using BBQs #WildfireAware

Outdoor fires can lead to a wildfire. Some are started deliberately. If you have information about deliberate fires, report it anonymously to Crimestoppers on 0800 555 111. It's a criminal offence and impacts your fire service, your community and your environment #WildfireAware

Help your fire service and environment and look out for arson, it's a crime which can lead to wildfires. If you see someone deliberately starting an outdoor fire call 999 or Crimestoppers on 0800 555 111 or online at crimestoppers-uk.org #WildfireAware

If you spot a fire in the open:

Keep a safe distance away from both fire and smoke

Call 999 for fire service

Try and provide as much information as you can such as location and size

#WildfireAware

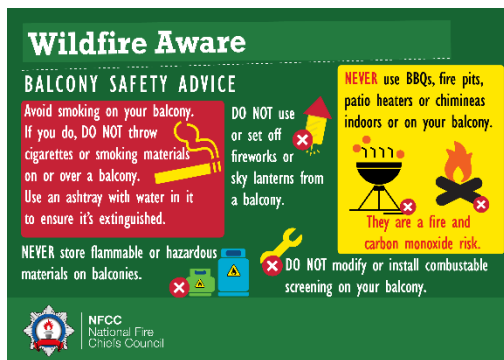

Call 999 if you spot a wildfire. Never attempt to put it out they can spread quickly. Make sure you leave the immediate area to a place of safety #WildfireAware

If spot a wildfire when in your car, close windows and air vents. Drive to safe place and call 999 giving as much information about location and size of fire #WildfireAware

If you will be spending more time on your balcony, follow our safety advice to reduce the fire risk to your building and surrounding area #WildfireAware
